TOP RANKING: Steve Mortimer, Ross Hamilton, Will Pickett, Leigh Perham, Jason Mackinnon and Anson Carter have been picked to play for Australia.

Strong show no surprise

BRIGHTON'S strong showing in the national lacrosse squad comes as no surprise to Steve Mortimer.

The sole Glenelg representative in the team has kept a close eye on the progress of the rival club since returning to Adelaide in 2008 after a four-year stint playing and studying in the US.

"They've managed to keep a lot of their talented juniors together and they've really developed over the last couple of years," the 24 year old says.

"There's a close relationship between the two clubs - off the field you're best mates, but on the field it's a different story."

The Australian players and support staff will need to find about $10,000 each to pay their way to the world titles in Manchester.

"The fact we've got to fund it ourselves hurts," Mortimer says.

"But we take (Australian selection) as a privilege and we'll worry about the money later."

Six appeal

WILL Pickett will be among friends when he takes the field for Australia in the world lacrosse championships later this year.

Pickett, 20, is one of five Brighton players selected in the 23-man Sharks' squad for the titles, to be held in Manchester in July, while Glenelg's Steve Mortimer also got the nod.

"It's great there's so many of us but I think all the guys really deserve to be there," Pickett says. "We've been working pretty hard to give it a decent crack."

One of the youngest members of the Sharks, he was a member of the national under-19 team which competed in the 2008 world championship.

Other Brighton players are Anson Carter, Ross Hamilton, Jason Mackinnon and Leigh Perham.

Sharks team manager Greg Hamilton - Ross' father - cannot recall Brighton previously providing as many players to the national team.

"But they were the 2009 State League premiers and with ongoing growth and junior development they've now got the right group of players who have all come through the ranks together," he says.
